What is eeHEN?

A network of higher education professionals supporting environmental education across disciplines like:

- Environmental Science, Biology, Engineering
- Forestry, Aquatics, Natural Resources
- Early Childhood, Formal Education,
- Parks and Recreation & More!

Why Join?

Joining eeHEN connects you with educators and professionals across the state, offering opportunities to collaborate on projects, research, and initiatives. You'll gain access to valuable resources to help grow your program and provide students with hands-on experience, credentials, and career development in environmental education.
