

Safe Students, Empowered Educators

Dismantling Hate & Violence in Schools

Registration Information

- Registration is free
- First 200 registrants receive a $100 stipend for their attendance
- Registration is open to all Kentucky K-12 teachers, school administrators, and teachers in training
- Register prior to November 30th to be entered in a drawing for Nic Stone to visit your school on Friday, February 2, 2024. Visit includes 150 copies of her book for students.

Agenda

- 8:30 a.m. — Check In & Coffee
- 9 a.m. — Welcome by Kentucky Humanities Executive Director Bill Goodman
- 9:05 a.m. — Opening Plenary Session with UK Associate Dean Dr. Christia Spears Brown
- 10 a.m. — Concurrent Workshop Session #1
- 11 a.m. — Keynote Address with Bestselling Author Nic Stone
- 11:50 a.m. — Book Signing & Lunch
- 1 p.m. — Concurrent Workshop Session #2
- 2 p.m. — Roundtable Discussions
- 3:30 p.m. — Wrap Up

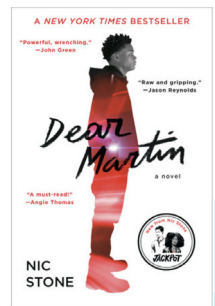

Professional Development

6 hours of credit

Safe Students, Empowered Educators will help educators combat hate-motivated violence and create programming that promotes civic engagement, social cohesion, and cross-cultural understanding. Together, we will provide teachers with tools needed to be more confident in advancing justice in the classroom and creating a more just society.

Join us at the University of Kentucky Gatton Student Center, in Lexington on Saturday, February 3, 2024, for a day-long conference to reflect on the diversity of experiences and perspectives and explore the history of prejudice and efforts to create a more just society.

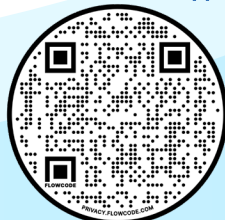

Safe Students, Empowered Educators is presented by Kentucky Humanities and the University of Kentucky College of Education Center for Professional Development as part of the National Endowment for the Humanities' United We Stand initiative.

Presented by

NATIONAL
ENDOWMENT
FOR THE HUMANITIES

Scan for more information and to register.